SurprEYES! Works from the Arts Council Collection

Until 30 July

Curated by Martin Drury, this exhibition has been specially created to appeal to children and to all who enjoy the vitality and variety of contemporary art. It is an invitation to look and look again and look some more. Some 40 works are chosen and presented so as to surprise and delight, to draw you on and make you stand back, to scratch your head, rub your eyes, and smile out loud! There's a whole range of artworks in this exhibition – paintings, sculptures, prints and drawings. Artworks by over 30 artists feature in the show including Louis Le Brocqy, Elizabeth Magill, Gary Coyle, Alice Maher and many more.

GALLERY LEARNING PROGRAMME

3D Forest

Project Room

Tuesday 4 July, 2.00–4.00pm

Suitable for families and children of all ages.

(no booking required, just drop in)

Drop in workshop with visual artist Jane Groves. Help to create a 3D forestscape using materials inspired by images from the exhibition, and grow this vision in cardboard!

Mary Mary visits SurprEYES! Gallery

Wednesday 5 July, 12–12.30pm

All welcome, (no booking required, just drop in)

Join puppeteer Niamh Lawlor when she brings Mary Mary to visit SurprEYES! Mary Mary will tour the exhibition with children and families, giving her opinions and asking some hard questions of curator Martin Drury.

Shadow Dreaming

Project Room

Wednesday 5 July, 2.00–3.00pm

(parent/guardian required to stay for workshop)

Mary Mary of Púca Puppets with a little help from puppeteer Niamh Lawlor invites children, parents and grandparents to work together to make shadow puppets and scenes inspired by the exhibition.

Bloom and Buzz

Project Room

Saturday 15 July, 12.00–12.35pm

Ages: 4–7.

(parent/guardian required to stay for performance)

Bloom and Buzz is an interactive theatrical experience for young children and accompanying adults. Physical comedy, puppetry and clowning combine to create a colourful and imaginative adventure that playfully and sensitively explores the life cycle of nature.

Return of Spring

Studio

Saturday 22 July, 12.00–12.45pm,
2.00–2.45pm

Ages 3–5. (parent/guardian required to stay for performance)

Every year in Whistleberry Forest, the creatures of the forest look forward to the beginning of Spring. This year was a little different however, as Springtime had arrived much earlier than usual. All the hibernating animals were still curled up fast asleep, except for one: Huggy the hedgehog! Join Huggy on his joyful adventure to find evidence of Spring.

BOOKING

All workshops, talks and other events are free. Please book for all of the above unless otherwise stated as places are limited. To book go to www.eventbrite.com and search for dlr LexIcon Gallery For more information www.dlrcoco.ie/arts or (01) 236 2759

Aerosol by Aideen Barry

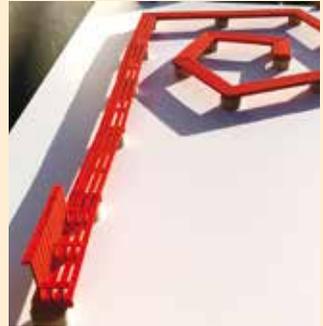

Topography of the Elsewhere

15 September–5 November

Taking notes from the 1968 lecture by the French Philosopher Michel Foucault, entitled Of Other Spaces, Aideen Barry responds to the dlr LexIcon Gallery as a type of portal to other realities. She takes on the space as a world between other worlds, it itself housing books/other portals to other spheres. She will use the idea of the book as a device for activating the space, presenting new moving image works in intricate and intimate installations and viewing devices.

There will be lots of workshops, activities and tours as part of the exhibition Learning Programme.

dlr RED JETTY

17 July–3 August

The Architectural Programme for Creative Ireland 2017 by dlr Architects' Department in collaboration with A2 Architects and Alan Meredith Studio and supported by dlr Parks Department presents dlr RED JETTY – a temporary seat that will offer a place for all ages to meet as well as rest, to be located in a number of parks and public spaces in the county of Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown over the summer months.

With echoes of Dún Laoghaire Pier, the geometry of the bench starts as a line and then spirals in on itself to make a forum at its centre. It will be painted in a signal red and after dlr LexIcon, the Jetty will move around the County to Marlay Park, Cabinteely Park and other public spaces.

After a year that heralded a record number of Oscar nominations for Irish film, alongside an equally impressive number of Golden Globe nominations going into 2017, it is fair to say that Irish talent is more than holding its own on the global cinematic stage. To celebrate the wealth of Irish talent in this year's programme, ADIFF (Audi Dublin International Film Festival) is delighted to present an exhibition of portrait photography featuring a selection of homegrown talent taken by award-winning actor, director and photographer Hugh O'Connor.

"It's been a huge privilege to take these Dublin portraits... All the images were shot on black + white film, with a Hasselblad CM camera that I still haven't managed to break or lose (yet)..."

Seapoint: Sea, Sky and Spires 11 July–17 September

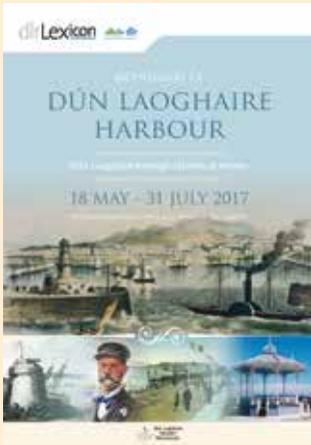

This exhibition is a tribute of gratitude to a little stretch of water that has been for me a place of solace and inspiration, those moments when I soothe my mind in all weathers in preparation for a day of heaven-knows-what difficulties and travails. These photographs record the visual impact of the sky, the sun, the spires of four churches seen from the sea, and, of course, the many beautiful birds and sea creatures that share the sea so willingly with us human intruders. From photos of the past to the many recreational pursuits at Seapoint and not forgetting the majestic Martello Tower, this exhibition captures the unique elements that make Seapoint an idyll without equal.

LEVELS 4 AND 5

Bicentenary of Dún Laoghaire Harbour 18 May–30 August

Curated by Colin and Anna Scudds of Dún Laoghaire Borough Historical Society, in association with dIrl Local Studies, this exhibition tells the fascinating history of the harbour over the past two centuries. It includes a detailed timeline and it covers some of the key figures such as Richard Toutcher, John Rennie and the early Harbour Masters, Lieutenant William Hutchison and the Hon. Capt. Francis George Crofton. What were conditions like for the workers who lived on Dalkey Commons and close to the Harbour? What seafaring tragedies happened over the years? When did the last fog horn sound? There is so much of interest in this exhibition of our much-loved piers – do come and visit!

UCD Architecture Project: The Metals 11 September–15 October

Final-year architecture students from UCD School of Architecture have generated a series of design projects connected by The Metals. These range from artists' studios to a local recycling centre on the fringes of the railway line, a Camphill Community garden scheme and a co-housing project on sites in the gardens of existing houses backing on to The Metals, a project for modular emergency housing on the edge of Dalkey Quarry, and two projects on the harbour, a proposal for a public space on Carlisle Pier and a new harbourmaster's office beside the Irish Lights. Aspects of these seven diverse and speculative proposals may be viewed until Open House Dublin 2017 which takes place from 13–15 October.

LEVEL 5

Remembering Maeve: An exhibition in partnership with UCD Special Collections 18 September–26 November

dIrl LexIcon celebrates its new Irish Author sequence on Level 5 with an exhibition entitled Remembering Maeve, on loan from UCD Special Collections. With thanks also to Gordon Snell, who donated a large collection of books by Maeve Binchy, in many different languages to dIrl LexIcon. Maeve was one of UCD's most famous and most beloved graduates and this exhibition includes many facsimiles from the Maeve Binchy Papers including items that give great insights into the creative process. It includes schematics, plans, drafts for novels and short stories, chapter plans and maps of fictitious settings.

MUSICIANS IN RESIDENCE 2017

Nick Roth:

Nick Roth is a saxophonist, composer, producer and educator. His work explores the liberation of improvisation from composition, the poetic syntax of philosophical enquiry, and the function of music as translative epistemology. Simultaneously subsumed by an insatiable appetite for literature, his compositions interrogate the inherence of meaning in formal structure and the symbiotic, simultaneous resonance of words as sound and text. He is the artistic director of the Yurodny Ensemble, a founding member of the Water Project, and a partner at Diatribe Records, Ireland's leading independent label for new sounds.

The residency comprises of three parts: Wake, Wend and Wave and will include performances in dlr Lexicon on 13 July and 23 August.

Mongoose:

Meet Mongoose - the fierce foursome that are taking Ireland's alternative folk scene by storm. Their music is an amalgamation of styles, from pop and folk to jazz and traditional. Rich vocal harmonies provide the foundation for their music, with influences ranging from Simon and Garfunkel to Fleetwood Mac to Beyoncé. All four members are individual songwriters, which allows for an ever-evolving soundscape, from hard-edged indie pop and delicate folk to aching ballads and playful tales of love lost. Their upcoming EP 'Four' explores the fusion of four distinct song-writing styles, brought together to create a multi-faceted, cohesive sound. With a debut album under their belt and festival appearances which include Other Voices, Groove, Body & Soul, Longitude and Electric Picnic, this unique band are sure to delight with their quick onstage banter, eclectic range of instruments and beautifully crafted songs.

DLR WRITER IN RESIDENCE

Screenwriter James Phelan has just been appointed as this year's dlr Writer in Residence 2017-18. The residency will focus on the theme of the future and there will be lots of opportunities for the public to get involved. IFTA Award winner, James has a wealth of screenwriting experience including RTÉ drama Striking Out and TG4's Wrecking the Rising.

Further details will be announced in the coming weeks.

Monday 28 August, 7.30pm
Tickets €12 & €10

Booking: Eventbrite.ie

Nicole Krauss is back with her first novel in seven years. From the bestselling, twice Orange Prize-shortlisted, National Book Award-nominated author comes a vibrant tale of transformation: of a man in his later years and a woman novelist, each drawn to the Levant on a journey of self-discovery. Bursting with life and humour, Forest Dark is a profound, mesmerising, achingly beautiful novel of metamorphosis and self-realisation – of looking beyond all that is visible towards the infinite.

Reviewing her last novel, The Woman Upstairs, Joanna Briscoe remarked that “Claire Messud should achieve literary giant status before too long” and her new novel may just be the book to propel her towards that exalted status. The Burning Girl, is a bracing and hypnotic portrait of the complexities of female friendship. Compact, compelling, and ferociously sad, the novel is at once a story about childhood, friendship and community, and a complex examination of the stories we tell ourselves about childhood and friendship. For Claire Messud, literary greatness beckons.

People on the Pier

Dún Laoghaire Pier is 200 years old this year! Since the first stone slab was laid in 1817, people have sauntered, ambled, paraded, marched, loitered, trudged and stepped out on the famous East and West Piers. It is a bracing walk as the West Pier is 1 mile long and the East Pier is 3/4 of a mile. More than a million people walk the pier annually and they choose this spot for their outings for many special occasions as well as for a daily constitutional! Holy communions, birthdays, first dates, walking the dog, a Sunday stroll, hanging out with friends, taking the air, engagements, weddings, and baby's first day out have all been captured on camera at this iconic location. Now, we're asking you to share these precious memories with us.

The People on the Pier Project is an initiative of the Local Studies Department of dlr Libraries. We are keen to grow our collection of pier imagery, bringing it right up to date during this auspicious bicentenary year. So photos of you, your family and friends – and your pets of course are all welcome! If you have older photos you would like to share with us, we would love to add these to our collection also.

Add your photos on the website dlrpeopleonthepier.ie or on our Facebook page (www.facebook.com/dlrpop/), or tag us on our Twitter (@dlr_pop) and Instagram accounts (dlrpop). You can also email your photo to: localhistory@dlrcoco.ie. Photos may be used in an exhibition at the end of the year. We look forward to hearing from you.

Willfredd Theatre Harbour 200th Birthday Party

Children's Library, Level 4
Saturday 26 August at 1.00pm,
2.00pm and 3.00pm (25 minutes duration each)

Attention, shipmates! WillFredd Theatre invites the people of Dún Laoghaire, young and old and inbetween to a selection of music and stories from its forthcoming show, Harbour. Triumph, tragedy, prosperity and calamity – the arms of the harbour have seen it all. They've welcomed seamen and travellers, Kings and Queens and watched others sink to a watery grave in the Irish Sea.

With music by Malachy Robinson, composed and arranged for the Harbour String Quartet and lyrics and text by Mark Doherty, we promise plenty of exciting snippets of a life well lived – and living! On Sunday 27th, the Stedfast Brass Band return to the bandstand on the East Pier for a concert of maritime music and sea shanties.

Picturebook Fun Day for Schools with Rob Biddulph and Joseph Coelho

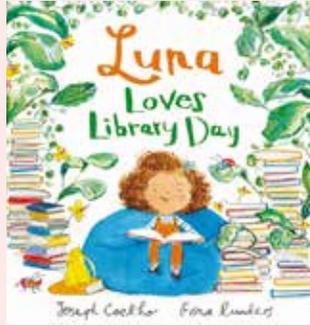

Studio Theatre, dlr LexIcon
Friday 22 September

11am to 12.30pm (inc a short break at 11.40 to 11.50am)

Bookshop on site with thanks to Gutter Books, Dalkey 2nd class and 3rd class.

Join us for a day celebrating picturebooks, stories and drawing with award-winning UK writers, Rob Biddulph and Joseph Coelho. Rob will share his new picturebook, Kevin and draw for the children. Then Joseph will share his latest picturebook, Luna Loves Library Day and talk about his love of poetry and rhyme. Don't miss this dynamic storytelling duo!

RIGHT: Tommy Meskill (RTÉ News2Day) with 4th class pupils from Harold, Glashule during a Nation Creation workshop.

Rob Biddulph is a bestselling and award-winning picturebook maker whose first picture book, Blown Away, won the Waterstones Children's Book Prize. As well as working on his own books he also illustrates for other authors including Jeff Brown (the Flat Stanley series).

Joseph Coelho is a writer, performer and co-founder of Word Pepper Theatre Company. Joseph has been a guest poet on Cbeebies Rhyme Rocket. His debut children's poetry collection Werewolf Club Rules won the CLIPPA 2015. His new picturebook, Luna Loves Library Day is illustrated by Fiona Lumbers.

Silent Books Exhibition

Thanks to all the many children, teachers, parents, illustrators, authors, storytellers, bloggers and booklovers who participated so enthusiastically in our Silent Books Exhibition, courtesy of iBBY Ireland during the month of May. We were sorry to say goodbye to the 100 wordless picturebooks but we hope to build up our own collection for you to enjoy in the future. Many schools took part in the Nation Creation Workshops with author Debbie Thomas and illustrator Tatyana Feeny (some even appeared on TV!) but we are now working on creating a quilt of all your amazing flags from your invented nations. We'll have more news for you on that over the Summer, but thanks again to all who embraced this important and exciting initiative.
